MEDICINE HAT 1
—:O:—
Playing the first game of the home and home series in the semiinals of the Morgan Cup playoffs here on Saturday night the local team took the long end of a 7 to 1 score against the Medicine Hat team. The local team was a bit poor on account of the mild weather, but a good crowd turned out to witness the game.

In the first period, Strathmore went after goals with a bang and E. C. and C. C. Morgan assisted in passing to the scoring. C. G. Rowland followed up with a solo effort and L. Christensen made it three to nothing immediately after. Putting a little more life into the attack, Melvin Haffner and C. G. Rowland made Melvin Haffner notch one on a nice play by Fisher assisted by Simmons. Except for the apert dashes played by Fisher the Haffners took the icy conditions into their own hands. With the pressure applied by the local team these did not occur so that the period ended with a two goal margin in favor of the Red Sox.

The ice tightening slightly in

The second helped to speed up the play some and it was more even although Strathmore collected an other three goals. Two of the goals could have been scored if Chas. hadn't been so anxious to preserve that school girl complexion by ducking out of the way. C. Giroux and Moran combined nicely to get the first and the other two goals were scored by E. Giroux and the other by Jack Crellin.

Only one more goal was registered in the third period and that fell to the stick of C. Giroux from his brother Bill's pass. Medicine Hat were showing lack of life in this period and the ice was hindering effective combination play. Only one penalty was handed out all evening and Fisher for the Only one more week was required.

Throughout the game was clean and for such poor ice was fast. The Hatters were at a distinct advantage with the local team back-checking so closely.

SURE GELBERT WILL NOT PLAY BALL THIS SEASON

New York—Branch Rickey, field marshal of the St. Louis Cardinals far flung baseball forces have definitely abandoned any hope he had felt that Charley Gelbert, once considered the greatest young shortstop in baseball, would play in the Red Bird infield this season.

Gelbert swung into conference with the Cardinal vice-president on crutches, meeting Rickey for the first time since the accidental discharge of a hunting gun all but tore away the calf of one of his legs last fall.

Rickey said:
"Charley may not even go south with us. He's very optimistic and I am too, but it's for 1934, and not this coming season."

RUFFING SIGNS

St. Petersburg, Fla. Charles Red Ruffing, the leading pitcher of the world champion New York Yankees has arrived at camp with his signed contract, reducing the list of holdouts to one—Babe Ruth. Having put on his suit and went out to work immediately.

Ruth started training with the main squad awaiting the arrival of Colonel Jacob Ruppert for a conference.

Babe Ruth attracted a crowd of about 700, some 500 more than the usual gathering for the New York Yankees' drills, when he turned out for his first baseball practice.

MUNN BROTHERS ALL PROMINENT ATHLETES

The late Monte Munn, who died of heart disease Wednesday was one of three brothers who achieved prominence in sport. Monte was a heavyweight boxer of considerable ability until he retired from competition in New York in favor of politics and pursuit of a legal practice. Wayne (Big) Munn chose wrestling as a profession and mainly through his great strength rather than science became heavy weight champion of the world. He won the title at Kansas City on Jan. 10, 1925 when he won from Ed Strangler Lewis and lost it the following April to Stanislaus Zyzanski. He predeceased Monte, who a victim of heart disease.

The third brother, the youngest of the trio, is Glen, who wrestled in Toronto a time ago and is considered a promising mat prospect. All three brothers were students at the University of Nebraska before entering professional sport.

LOOKING AT THE NEWS WITH COLONEL HUGH CLARK

Everyone admits that our legislators are overmaned but when a government undertakes to reduce it meets active opposition and gets only quiescent support. Members who admit that reductions are necessary become critical of details while those whose political chances are endangered or wiped out altogether offer bitter resistance. Naturally enough, too. It takes Roman courage to stand up and say we who are about to die salute you.

If they are political opponents anyway, the government can meet this antagonism with a smile, but reductions cannot be made without hitting friends as well as foes. Attempts to compose these troubles in caucus remind us of a cartoon which Carlyle says was distributed in France during the revolution. It showed a poulterer calling his fowl into convention to consult them as to how they would like to be dressed. But we don't want to be killed, said they. That's beside the question, said he.

Those who are to be decapitated cannot be expected to have the same viewpoint as the man with the axe. He and those who are going to profit by it can view the situation with a philosophic calm detached from the prospective victim. But we cannot have minorities without the breaking of eggs. A reduction is necessary and this is the time to make it. We can give governments now considering reductions no better advice than that given by an M. P. now deceased, who once denounced the Lamer government to hew to the line no matter whose ox is gored.

A newspaper says that in the United States the motto is to go. We trust. We rather fancy, however, that if this banking muddle continues it will knock "L" out of that motto.

Miss Macphail, M. P. would never say that our industrial position could be improved by increasing the number of unemployed. Now, but for some reason or other she thinks that our financial position could be improved by increasing the number of unemployed dollars.

It is now proposed to sing the national anthem more solemnly, though it is generally sung so solemnly that it drags, thus giving the irreverent (who do not realize that besides being the national anthem it is a prayer) ample time to get on their overhauses and overcoats and start moving toward the exits.

Speaking of prayer we heard one over the radio recently that might be considered the limit. The clergyman was not asking the Lord—he was telling Him. It wasn't a petition—it was a demand. It was not a supplication—it sounded more like an ultimatum, as if he were saying, Now, I've brought these matters up several times lately and nothing has been done and I'm getting sick and tired of this delay. There was no suggestion of humility or pleading about it but rather the aggrieved tone of a man who had done everything he could in setting forth the facts and pointing out the policies that should be adopted and whose patience has been well nigh exhausted by official inaction very like the tone nowadays used by spokesmen, deputations, interviewing principals, ministers about the economic situation and relief measures.

The Banking Holiday
Not everyone is feeling blue. Some men actually laughed. The man who has a note now due and he who has an overdraft.

There is no reason why Canadian currency should not be printed in two languages and there is no reason why it should. No one reads what is inscribed on the bill anyway. One just looks at the figure to see whether it is a one or two, a five or a ten, a century or a grand. If people would only read what is printed, it would be well to use several languages so that they would realize that every bill is merely a promise to pay, and therefore it is not advisable to use too many least the issuing authority get into the same plight as an individual one who is too free with his notes of hand.

In the United States milady's stockings has been called the first national bank. It pays no interest but it has proved safer than any other bank over there. For nothing, milady herself is the owner, manager, accountant, cashier and depositor combined. She controls the circulation, imposes her own restrictions, and declares her own holidays. The bank is proof against overdraws and is never so safe as when it is held up.

SUPERIORS ARE CHAMPIONS
Edmonton—Ira Stuart's Edmonton Superiors are senior amateur hockey champions of Alberta. They made it two straight over the Calgary Bronks, following up their 2-2 success in Calgary by a 4-3 in Edmonton. Both games were decided in overtime, the one at Calgary taking 40 minutes extra play, while the contest here went two extra periods. Before Christmas, clever stick handler drove the puck beyond D. P. McDonald for the deciding counter.

STANDARD
The Danish Young Peoples Society held a short programme after which lunch was served in the basement of the church on Thursday.

Mrs. F. Kroon, Mrs. J. Burden and Mrs. R. Foster were joint hostesses at a Whist party when they entertained the W. C. members and their husbands at the home of the latter on Tuesday evening. Mrs. J. Rasmussen and Mr. R. Hanson were joint first prizes and the consolation went to Mrs. G. Collins and Mr. E. Sparks.

Miss M. Hett spent last week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hymas of Rosebud.

Mr. Roy Sparks relieved M. Knowlton while the latter was at tending Grand Lodge in Calgary.

A very humorous evening was spent by the K. P.'s and their friends last Friday night. Messrs. Kroon, Hymas, Messinger, J. Rasmussen, Wanning and Thugh gave a short skit which was enjoyed by everyone. Lunch was served after which several members enjoyed the evening at Long Beach.

Overheard on the Street—The Town Council are serious, considering putting a cement walk between the Royal Bank and the Telephone office. We wonder why.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Knowlton on the arrival of a son on Friday.

PROTECTING THE HOME OWNERS

Immediate action to relieve the resident farmer or farm owner and the urban home owner not only of the possibility of legal proceedings which might dispossess him of his home but also of the strain and anxiety which generally precedes such action, is being taken in the Alberta legislature this week, by way of an emergency measure introduced by Hon. J. F. Lyman, attorney general. The bill provides that no action may be commenced by any creditor against such home owner without a permit from the director of the debt adjustment act. The bill will have effect until such time as the new debt adjustment legislation becomes law. The bill applies to resident farmers or farmers who have owned farm homes and are dependent upon returns from such property, and also to the urban home owner or man who is residing on a property which he is purchasing as a home under agreement. With respect to the farm owner, the bill applies to any kind of claim which may be against him and in connection with which proceedings might be taken which would result in the loss of his land. With respect to the urban home owner, the bill relates obviously to action which might be threatened against the land which he occupies as a home. All home owners as above described are, therefore, by this legislation, relieved of any anxiety with respect to holding their present homes. It is clearly explained that, of course, this Act only applies to past due indebtedness and not to new new debts as it is not felt reasonable that any one should be protected against liabilities deliberately incurred in the light of present day conditions.

MEDICAL SERVICES
That adequate medical services for all the people of Alberta can be secured only through the operation of a contributory health insurance scheme is stated in the progress report of the legislative committee on health services tabled in the legislature by Hon. George Hoadley, minister of health. The committee's report, dealing with ultimate provision of an ideal scheme for medical services, says any plan of a more local nature should be readily adaptable to a more general system if such should become dominion or provincial wide in its application. Enabling legislation by which municipal districts or parts thereof may organize for provision of medical and allied services also should be utilized says the report. Information at hand as yet does not enable it to make final recommendations which is regretted by the committee.

From the little bed he surveyed his mother in an evening frock. Where are you going mamma? To the theatre, darling. Mummy! Somebody might see you!

What are you doing out of bed, Mary? Father called up the stairs. Pause—then the small voice, I just got out to tuck myself in, Daddy.

Bouquet with a string to it—Is it true Miss Elderfield that you are going to get married soon? Well, no it isn't. But I am very grateful for the rumor.

Cross Hospital Thursday March 9.
Both mother and baby are well.

Mr and Mrs Fritz Kattol are the proud parents of a healthy pair of twins born recently. The little girl and boy are distinguished as one of the few twins of the district

We are very sorry to hear that Mr C. M. Wise has been quite in-ferable lately and is under the care of Dr. McLaughlin. We hope he is now well on the way to recovery
at the home of his son, Mr J. J.
Wise where he was when he was taken ill.

The people of the district recently had a shock on Wednesday last when they heard of the sudden death of Mr Guy York, who had passed away very suddenly in Calgary.
Mr York had been ill for a few days but did not believe he was so serious. The Doctor advised his immediate removal to a hospital, as his system was weakened with much sickness during the last year. Mr and Mrs York have been popular card owners here for a number of years. They suffered considerable loss three years ago
this month when much of the business portion of the town was burnt.
Since that they have conducted their business on the corner in the middle of town. Owing to ill health Mr York has spent much of the past year in hospitals. The funeral was conducted in Calgary on Monday afternoon from Porter and Foster Funeral Home. Many friends from Rockyford were able to be in the city to attend and many floral tributes from others
attested the wide circle of friends.
Mr York leaves a wife and son to mourn his loss besides two sisters in Saskatoon.

The practice for the new play
which is to be produced by St.
John's Church on the evening of March 24th is progressing very well indeed, and everyone is looking forward to the pleasant event.
